MASS-MEETING LAST NIGHT.

INTERESTING SPEECHES GOOD MUSIC-ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

A mass-meeting of the members and friends of the Richmond Young Men's Christian Association was held at their hall, audience of ladies and gentlemen were preent. The President of the Association, Mr. J. Taylor Ellyson, on taking the chair stated that the meeting had been called in accordance with the recommendation of the Inter-national Convention of Young Men's Christion Associations, held in Richmond in May last, which had been endorsed by the World's Convention, held in Hamburgh, Germany, in August last, that the present week be observed as a sesson of prayer in behalf of young men and Associations designed for their amelioration. He then called on the Rev. Charles H. Read, D. gathering together of Christians and their D., who led in a fervent prayer for the pros- friends.

perity of the Society.

The choir, composed in part of that of the Second Baptist church, thea sang, with the audience, one of the hymns which had been The Rev. George Woodbridge, D. D., then ed in prayer; after which another sweet byma was sung. The President called on those who had en engaged in evangelistic labors to give brief reports of the work done.

tures of the meetings in the western suburbs of the city, in which the surrounding population evidently took an interest. Mr. J. R. F. Burroughs, of the Committee on Tract Distribution, said a large number of pages of tracts had been distributed on the railroad trains and in other places. Mr. W. C. Mayo called attention to the daily prayer-meetings held in the rooms of the Association, and hoped they would be largely attended, especially during this week of prayer. The President said he had attended many of the open-air meetings, in which scores of persons had asked the prayers of God's people. Much good, he said, had also been accomplished by the cot-dwellings on various evenings. Mr. W. Tszewell Fitzgerald suggested effect at the Association rooms.

William P. Munford, Esq., suggested a modification-that six lectures be free to members, and all others be paid for by all attendants. Other members spoke for and against the resolution of Mr. Potts. Mr. J. B. Watkins hoped the resolution would not pass. If there was no question of good faith involved, considerations of expediency would decide against it. The members would pay their dues to attend the fectures, and thus the revenues of the Association would be increased.

RICHMOND, November 15, 1875. Messrs. Editors,-Permit me through the columns of your journal to call the attention of the proper authorities to the execrable condition of Main street in the immediate vicinity of Lombardy during rainy weather. The tax payers in this neighborhood justly complain that their interests are grossly neglected. It appears that in removing the surplus dirt along the line of the water-main leading from the new reservoir a large depression was made in the street at the point above referred to. The consequence is that after a heavy rain-fall a large pond of water remains, completely immersing the side-walks, and rendering it impossible for either vehicles or pedestrians to pass. I trust I have said enough to induce the Street Committee to have the necessary re-
